In the commercial telegraph office at Nuevo Laredo have quit their keys, taking their typewriters and the records of the company with them, in anticipation that an attack might occur during the night.

Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, was captured by the rebels this afternoon without a shot being fired, without harm to any citizen and with inconvenience to few. Colonel Pascual Orozco, Sr., father of the rebel leader of northern Mexico, rode in an automobile to the Federal barracks at the head of a small party of revolutionists, the garbison of 200 men formally swore allegiance to the rebel cause and the city was proclaimed under control of the revolutionists, with Andres Garza Galan, who figured prominently in connection with the Reyes revolt of last year, in command.

The municipal offices and custom house were taken in charge and the chief of police and other city officials jailed. The local branch of the National Bank of Mexico was also taken charge of, but there was no pillaging. Saloons were closed, and to-night everything is quiet. Twenty Americans were given safe escort across the border.

Sheriff Amador Sanchez, of Webb County, Texas, sent a promise from the rebel leaders that should subsequent trouble occur no fire would be directed toward the United States side of the international boundary.

Colquitt Asks Troops.

Austin, Texas, February 15.—Governor O. B. Colquitt, of Texas, sent a telegram to-night to President Taft urging that United States troops in sufficient number be sent to Laredo and Brownsville, Texas, to protect that section of the border against Mexican bands that might cross the boundary bent on looting. In the event Federal troops are not ordered to the border, the Governor asserts he will establish a militia patrol along the Rio Grande. It was also learned to-night that Governor Colquitt appealed to President Taft three days ago to intervene in Mexico. In reply, a dispatch from Secretary Knox to the Governor stated that events up to that time were not considered as warranting any alteration in the hands-off policy maintained by this government.

SUFFRAGE LEAGUE ORATOR

MRS. JAMES LEES LAIDLAW.

SUFFRAGE LEADER WILL SPEAK HERE

Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw to Address League at Jefferson on March 1.

Mrs. B. B. Valentine felt herself especially fortunate in being able to announce to members of the Equal Suffrage League of Richmond and Virginia that she had received a promise from Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, of New York, to deliver an address in this city on the evening of March 1, in the Jefferson Hotel auditorium. Mr. Laidlaw, well-known as a successful New York banker and financier, will come to Richmond with his wife and they will be house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine during their visit. Mrs. Laidlaw is in full sympathy with Mrs. Valentine's views, and is a member of the Men's League for Woman Suffrage.

Mrs. Laidlaw has been interested in social betterment work since her girlhood. She has worked for the Babies' Hospital, the National Plant and Flower Guild, the Municipal Art League, the Women's University Club and many other societies. She is vice-president of the Paces Institute of Domestic Science, and secretary of an auxiliary of the Manhattan Trade School for Girls. She works for the Peace Society, the Child Labor Committee and the Industrial School, but she says that all her experience in these other phases of work only deepens her convictions that the need of suffrage is fundamental, and that it goes to the root, while other movements give tinkering results, but leave causes untouched.

Possesses Charming Personality.

As to her personality, Mrs. Laidlaw is extremely attractive. She possesses also the gift of working harmoniously and successfully with many different kinds of people. Her beauty and amiability win a hearing for equal suffrage in many quarters where it would otherwise find scant welcome.

"She gave an eloquent address before the National Episcopal Church Conference in Washington, D. C., when, for the first time, it put the question of votes for women on its program. She made her first suffrage speech at a parlor meeting in her native city of Albany, N. Y., in 1890, and wrote her first newspaper article on the question almost immediately afterward. When the Woman Suffrage party was started in New York, she was chosen chairman of Manhattan and carried forward the work of upbuilding the organization with great energy and success. She is a graduate of the Albany High School, has taken a master's degree in the New York State Normal College, a

B. A. degree at Columbia in 1902 and is registered for a Ph. D. degree in sociology and comparative literature.

Mrs. Laidlaw's Own Words.

But, to use the words of Mrs. Laidlaw herself, "One of the noblest and best champions of woman and humanity in the world interrupted some of this scholastic work. He said I could take my Ph. D. degree after I was married; but with increased family and home duties and additional public work, I have not seemed to find much time for study."

In effect, this means that it is better to be a happy and busy wife than to take degrees in scholarship.

The coming to Richmond of Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw on March 1 will be a prominent event in the lecture course of the winter, as planned by the Equal Suffrage League.

The mother of Mrs. Desha Brockinridge, of Lexington, Ky., was so far recuperated from a recent severe illness that it is believed she, too, will be able to keep her postponed engagement in Richmond later in the season.

ANNUAL REPORTS SHOW GOOD YEAR

Virginia Historical Society Gains in Membership and Increases Permanent Fund.

RE-ELECT ALL OFFICERS

Members Name Same Executive Committee to Serve New Term.

The Virginia Historical Society, at its annual meeting yesterday, re-elected without change the officers and executive committee of the preceding twelve months. President W. Gordon McCabe, who presided, presented his annual report, showing, among other things, that the society has now a membership of 768—an increase of ten over the membership reported at the last annual meeting.

While the absolute increase in membership appears small, it represents a clear increase over and above all reductions caused by death, suspension and resignation. The society lost fourteen members during the year by death.

The president reported that the society had added during the year 589 new books and pamphlets. In addition to these, there were many gifts of historical relics. Among these is a bookcase which was made on the order of Jefferson Davis, but which was later, for some reason, refused by him.

Permanent Fund of $12,400.

Treasurer Robert A. Lancaster, Jr., reported that the permanent fund of the society now amounts to $12,400, an increase of $1,300 over the fund on hand last year. The increase is due in part to a gift of $500 made by President McCabe, in memory of his wife, who died recently, and to $50 which was added by Mrs. Bryan, of New York City, to a fund given the society by her late husband.

The total of receipts from all sources for the fiscal year ending November 30, 1912, was $5,172.25. The sum represents an increase of $115.67 over the $5,056.61 which was collected in the fiscal year preceding.

During the year just ended the society lost the following members by death:

Life—J. C. Langhorne, Salem, and W. L. Shepard, Richmond.

Annual—J. Linwood Antrim, Richmond; Mrs. Catherine T. Breeding, Philadelphia; Dr. G. C. Greenway, Hot Springs, Ark.; A. H. Joline, New York City; Dr. Starkling Lovings, Columbus, Ohio; James Martin, Philadelphia; J. H. Noblitt, Philadelphia; Mrs. Eliza L. Potwin, Chicago; Robert G. Reynolds, Richmond; James M. Rice, Peoria, Ill.; John Vermillion, Norfolk; and William Minor Woodward, Richmond.

Officers for 1913.

The officers who will serve until the annual election in 1914, are:

W. Gordon McCabe, Richmond, president; Archer Anderson and Edward V. Valentine, Richmond, and Lyon G. Tyler, Williamsburg, vice-presidents; William C. Stannard, Richmond, corresponding secretary and librarian; D. C. Richardson, Richmond, recording secretary, and Robert A. Lancaster, Jr., Richmond, treasurer.

The following comprise the executive committee: C. V. Meredith, W. Meade Clark, S. S. P. Patterson, S. H. Yonge, William H. Palmer, John Stewart Bryan, Daniel Grinnam, and J. P. McGuire, Jr., Richmond; Charles W. Kent, University of Virginia; A. C. Gordon, Staunton; Rev. A. M. Randolph, Norfolk, and William A. Anderson, Lexington. The president, vice-presidents, secretaries and treasurer are ex-officio members of the executive committee.

One True Medicinal Whiskey

Beware of Imitations

While substitution is not a part of modern merchandising, it is still practiced to a greater or less degree by a few merchants who haven't the courage to compete with their fellows along legitimate, fair lines, or who do not care for their customers' health, but their own profits only.

Substitutes Are Dangerous

And any merchant who practices substitution is unworthy of the public's confidence.

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, when it has carried the blessings of health into as many thousands of homes of the sick as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. Be sure you get the genuine.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

PROGRESS--

Progress is the watchword of the twentieth century. Even in the short space of fifty years what wonders have been wrought! There have been so many that we have ceased to consider them as wonders.

In every line of endeavor—no matter what it may be—improvements are sure to come. And so it is in the building trade; the latest in that being "THE RICHMOND ADJUSTABLE WINDOW."

Just as surely as the railroad supplanted the old pony express, so will "The Richmond Adjustable Window" supplant the old style window. It is not an experiment or a novelty, but an ABSOLUTE NECESSITY, and modern methods in the building trade demand its use. By the application of an attachment called "The Patented Steel Stile," ANY ordinary window may be converted into this ADJUSTABLE window. The possibilities of output are unlimited, and it will not be long before every up-to-date building will be installed.

THE NATIONAL ADJUSTABLE WINDOW CORPORATION, manufacturers of "THE PATENTED STEEL STILE," is offering for public subscription a limited amount of its stock at the par value—$100 a share. BOOKS WILL BE OPEN TO-MORROW, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 17th.

DEMONSTRATIONS are being held at Room 502 Times-Dispatch Building. Witness a demonstration and prove for yourself THAT THIS IS THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.
